

Grace Muyunda and Abel Njamba. From the comments of their peers, Abel and Grace did their research very well and their facts were correct. They were in the Security Council committee where they talked about the situation in the Middle East involving the Palestinian question of statehood and recognition.

The conference has made me become knowledgeable about so many things, especially current affairs. My research skills have also improved because the program is designed in such a way that it prompts students to carefully research in order to present their facts well.
